We Dedicate

To the patrons of our beloved Lone Wolf Schools, we, the Seniors of '52, affectionately dedicate this yearbook, THE COYOTE.

For the privileges we have had because you have built and maintained a school providing an educational opportunity for us, we express our thanks.

Your encouragement, your sacrifices, and your patience have helped us achieve the place of graduates from Lone Wolf Schools.

We promise to you that we shall dedicate our lives to happy, useful citizenship, giving of our time, our effort, and our thoughts to helping build our country to an ever growing place of worthy leadership in the work of today and tomorrow.

Sincerely,

Superintendent's Message

In 1952, as in many other times in history, the problems of mankind seem almost insoluble. A ray of hope is apparent, however, to those who look, when they see fine, young determined people seeking an education-training which will enable them to contribute to the making of a better world. You have stayed in school when financial and other activities beckoned you to leave for possible more alluring, present gains.

Thus, I offer my congratulations to you because you have persevered, and wish for you, and predict for you, many, many good things in the years to come.

It has been our desire in the Lone Wolf Schools to lead you students in learning certain basic facts. But, more than that, to teach you how to get further knowledge for yourselves. Knowing that your work thus far is only the beginning of your growth, we only hope that we may have given you the key that you may use to open more doors of learning and wisdom.

Sincerely,

Russell R. Myers

Principal's Message

We would have you take with you basic qualities of a high moral character. In simpler words, wherever you are, remember always to be honorable men and women.
